FRANK E. HOWE, Editor and Pub'r.

BENNINGTON, VT., OCT. 7, 1911

M. J. Hapgood, in a letter printed elsewhere, declares that Vermont railroads are evading the state law in regard to demurrage rules. This is a matter that is a subject of dispute the world over and it seems to The Banner that the interstate commerce commission has ruled rather more favorably to the railroads than to the shippers. Inasmuch as the state law affects only shipments wholly within this state, the average shipper is not much interested in the Vermont law, but if, as Mr. Hapgood charges, the Vermont law is being interpreted by the railroads, according to their own convenience and profit, it is high time that the public service commission or the courts got after them. A small shipper has not the same facilities as a large shipper for unloading or loading cars and if there is any discrimination in law or rulings, it should rather favor the small shipper as a help to fair competition and to prevent large concerns and large shippers from squeezing the smaller.

Distribution of Medical Samples

The new state law which purposes to prevent the distribution of samples of medicine at houses, a practice that is considered inimical to the public health of the community, has been thoroughly tested now in Vermont; and it has been found to stand the test quite satisfactorily the case arising from the act of an agent in handing a medicine sample to a small girl in the city of Burlington. From that city the case came to the Vermont supreme court, where it was proposed to determine the liability of the principal, agents or servants in the act. The decision there, as announced in our news columns Tuesday, was to the effect that there was no error in the proceedings in the lower court judgment was affirmed. Hereafter there will be precedent enough in Vermont to prevent such distribution of samples from house to house.

The reason back of this statute is, as might be easily surmised, the safe-guarding of the lives of the young people who might be attracted by the samples. Perhaps in a majority of cases, the samples distributed at the doors might be harmless but there is no discrimination among children; they promptly eat, or attempt to eat, that which they find, and the consequences in many cases would be fatal. Therefore, it is to prevent such contingencies that the Vermont law was framed. All distribution must be stopped. That is plain after the outcome of the Burlington test case.—Barre Times.

ITALY RULES IN TRIPOLI

New Government Established for Africa Colony.

Tripoli, Oct. 6.—The Italians have established a new government for Tripoli. Rear Admiral Boredellino has been appointed governor. Capt. Caligi was made commandant of the forces disembarked by the Italian fleet. After the Italian seamen had been landed and occupied Fort Sultan, the chiefs of the Arab tribes, adjacent to Tripoli, went aboard the Italian flagship and gave their submission. They begged the Italians not to resume the bombardment. The German consul as the senior member of the consular corps, also visited the flagship and asked Vice Admiral Faravilla to assume responsibility for the preservation of public order and the protection of foreign residents in Tripoli which had been abandoned by the Turkish troops. The admiral landed other detachments of sailors with guns, including quick-firing pieces and occupied Tripoli in a military sense. This was accomplished without incident and the appointment of a governor followed. The German consul informed Vice Admiral Faravilla that during the shelling of the town no harm had been done to any European or damage to the property of Europeans.

Part of the fleet is anchored in the harbor, and the other warships lie a short distance from the dismantled fortifications. It is said the Italian warships bombarded Benghazi and Derna yesterday, but this is not confirmed.

ALL SOUR ON MIDDIE MANN

Jurors Hustle to Convict Chap Who Robbed One-Armed Man.

Rutland, Oct. 7.—Rutland county court probably established a record today for the short time consumed in the trial of a case by jury. A jury was empaneled the evidence introduced, lawyers' arguments made, judge's charges given, a verdict secured and the respondent sentenced, all within two hours.

The case was State vs. Miedie Mann of this city, who held up Percy Spafford, a one-armed man, last July on the railroad tracks here and demanded money. The jury found Mann guilty of simple assault. He was sentenced to the house of correction to serve not less than 18 months nor more than two years.

William E. Day was found guilty of petit larceny for stealing money out of a desk at the Uvanta lunch room, and he was sent to the county jail for three months. It took the jury 24 hours to reach this verdict.

Frank Atkins pleaded guilty to burglary in robbing the summer cottage at Center Rutland of E. E. Keyes of this city, and he was sentenced to serve not less than one year and two months nor more than a year and six months at the house of correction.

OLDFIELD WITHDRAWS

Will Not Enter Races Because of Criticism.

Philadelphia, Oct. 6.—Owing to the criticism directed against him because of the fatal accident at Syracuse, Lee Oldfield announced last night that he had decided not to participate in the 200-mile Fairmount Park motor race on Saturday. Oldfield was engaged to pilot a 190 horsepower Fiat owned by Frank S. Hodson of this city. His entry was accepted by the Quaker City Motor club and in the drawing for positions he drew No. 1. When he appeared for the first practice spin at the course he heard a number of criticisms and became so unnerved that he decided to withdraw. Hodson also announced that he would withdraw his entry. This withdrawal will leave eighteen cars in the race.

KEEP FIGHTING.

Tomorrows fresh shall rise from out the night
And new baptize the indomitable soul
With courage for its never ending fight.

No one, I say, is conquered till he yields;
And yield he need not, while, like mist from glass,
God wipes the stain from life's old battlefields.

From every morning that he brings to pass,
New day, new hope, new courage! Let this be,
O soul, thy cheerful creed! What's yesterday
With all its shards, and wrack, and grief, to thee?

Forget it then—here lies the victor's way.

—James R. Lowell.

TOO MUCH CHARITY.

There is infinitely more of so called charity today than ought to be needful in a self determining democracy. Too much of charity is a vain attempt to repair the ravages wrought by injustice. No charity reports can annul the fact that charity at best but makes good the inadequacy which has been brought about by insufficiency of income. Charity does not and cannot, save in the rarest instances, do more than temporarily restore the social equilibrium that has been disturbed.—Rabbi Wise.

THE TRUE FRIEND.

For he that wrongs his friend Wrongs himself more, and ever bears about

A silent court of justice in his breast,
Himself the judge and jury, and himself

The prisoner at the bar, ever condemned.

—Tennyson.

COMPULSORY VOTING.

Some have urged against compulsory voting that it is an unwarrantable interference with the liberty of the individual, as if the individual had any rights save those which comport with the general welfare. Precisely the same objection was offered to compulsory education, and nobody now doubts the wisdom which brushed it aside. It is said that only when the vote is freely cast is its privilege of any value. Yet compulsion taught the value of schooling to unappreciative millions and has done a like service for other millions who needed its stimulus to transmute their industrial duties into performances.—Edmund Noble.

BITS OF PHILOSOPHY.

Life is a rich strain of music, suggesting a realm too fair to be.—George William Curtis.

Gravestones tell truth scarce forty years. Generations pass while families last not three oaks.—Sir Thomas Browne.

FACTS ESSENTIAL.

It is easy to speak of the standard of the public welfare, it is easy to say that every one should work for the common interest, but first of all you have got to establish the common interest, and the common interest cannot be established upon theories. It cannot be established upon views. It can be established only upon facts. Until you know how the various elements of our economic life and of our social life are related to each other you cannot find the common term. Now, when half of them are in ambush, when half of them are making their plans behind closed doors, when half of them are basing their whole effort upon private rights, then there is no means of coming at the common term at all.—Woodrow Wilson.

KEPT FUNERAL PROMISE

Pastor Manning Drove 12 Miles After Hearing of Friend's Death

Rutland, Oct. 6.—An unusual agreement was carried out today at the funeral at Shrewsbury of Samuel W. Page, who died Wednesday. Fourteen years ago the Rev. J. W. Manning, now an Advent Christian pastor of Saratoga, N. Y., had charge of the chapel at North Shrewsbury, and Mr. Page was a regular attendant. One day Mr. Page said: "Brother Manning, I want you to officiate at my funeral, if you outlive me." The clergyman agreed to do so.

The Rev. Mr. Manning has been away from Shrewsbury more than a decade, and not knowing of his whereabouts the Page family made arrangements yesterday with the Rev. G. A. Osman, pastor of the Advent Christian Church in this city, to take charge of the funeral. In conversation this morning with Mr. Manning, who is here attending the Hoosick Valley conference, Mr. Osman happened to refer to Mr. Page's death and Mr. Manning remembered his promise and hastened to Shrewsbury, 12 miles, to fulfil it.
